SKC Workshop

Subjectivity and Selfhood:
Reading The Sickness unto Death

For more than two decades the question of subjectivity and selfhood has been a key concern in Kierkegaard research in Copenhagen, thereby situating Kierkegaard in current philosophical discussions. A strong emphasis has been put on Kierkegaard’s negative approach, especially in The Concept of Anxiety and The Sickness unto Death.

In the spring 2016 the SKC Workshop will focus on reading The Sickness unto Death.

Five Sessions:

1. March 30: The Approach to Selfhood in the Sickness unto Death: Self as Relating to Oneself – Despair as Misrelation

2. April 13: Being Human: Spirit and Synthesis

3. April 27: Despair – Phenomena and Concept (1)

4. May 11: Despair – Phenomena and Concept (2)

5. May 25: Self as Self-relation in Relation to Others – the Other

Time and location:
Wednesdays 14:15-16:00
The Søren Kierkegaard Research Centre, University of Copenhagen
Farvergade 27 D

Participants and Registration:
Open for students and researchers (max. 15 persons).
For registration, please send a mail to René Rosfort: rer@teol.ku.dk and Arne Grøn ag@teol.ku.dk
Registration closes February 2, 2016.